DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-16 are in the application.

Drawings

2. New corrected drawings in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in this application because some of the lines in some of the figures are of very poor quality.. Applicant is advised to employ the services of a competent patent draftsman outside the Office, as the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office no longer prepares new drawings. The corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The requirement for corrected drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1-8 and 10-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Acker et al in view of Mark.

Acker et al discloses a fastener for attaching and tensioning a cover over a boat comprising a first member 70 for attachment to a peripheral portion of the vehicle and a second member 73 for attachment to a cover 21b; member 70 comprises a female member ; the other of the member includes a male member 73a for extending through the female member and means for tensioning the cover. Mark discloses a fastener for attaching and tensioning a strap over a container. The fastener includes a first female member 14 and a second male member 13. the male member includes a hinged lever pivotal about a pivot and a male member extending through the female member and further includes a series of transverse recesses spaced sequentially from the pivot for selective engagement with the female member; pivoting of the lever about the pivot to a closed position tensions the strap 16 and attaches the strap to the container. In view of these disclosures, it would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to replace the fastener and tensioning device 70 of Acker et al with a fastener and tensioning device as taught by Mark. Such a substitution merely involves the replacement of one tensioning device 70 with another. This involves a matter of engineering design choice to one skilled in the art. The tensioning device of Mark would be more desirable as it includes more positive engaging elements in the recesses and would eliminate the possibility of slipping as would be the case with the device used by Acker et al. Although in the arrangement of Acker et al, a male member 72 is provided on the tensioner to engages a female member on the boat, it would have been an obvious matter of choice to one skilled in the art to reverse the type of connectors 72, 61.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claim 9 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
